CHINCH BUGS FOOD BILL

Investigators Estimate Missouri Farmers Paid $10,000,000 Toll to the Bugs Last Year.

State University investigators estimate the farmers of Missouri footed the food bill of the chinch bugs last year to the amount of $10,000,000. They also believe that if the farmers of the state would burn out hedge rows, fence corners, pastures and other breeding places now while the weather is mild the state would be almost rid of the pests for four or five years to come. Experts believe also if this is not done this winter that the damage will be two or three times greater this year than last.

Concerted action by townships or sections is the most effective way to deal with the bugs, of course, because if one farm is left as a breeding place and the farms about it are burned over, bugs from the neglected place would likely spread over the other places in the spring and summer.

Farmers cooperate in large numbers to fight the wolf menace, and the chances are wolves don't do a tenth of the damage done by the bugs. Of course it's a lot more fun and exciting to hunt wolves than it is to stand around and watch the grass burn a couple of days.

To let this matter lie is almost criminal negligence.

From the Waterburys.

Many readers of The News will be glad to hear that L. T. Waterbury and wife are prospering at Richmond, Kans. We take the following paragraph from a letter to the Sheldon Enterprise by a subscriber of that paper who lives at Richmond:

"The Waterburys run a jewelry and notion store here and have done well. Waterbury suffers some, but is on duty almost every day. He goes to and from his store alone and starts his own fires."

Card of Thanks.

The undersigned wish to express their gratitude to friends in this community for services rendered and kindness shown at the funeral of our dear father, Marion. M. Carns.

Arrested for Jasper Burglary.

Garth Dalmain, who gives his occupation as a short story writer, was arrested Saturday at a Carthage hotel by the Carthage police and is held in the county jail charged with robbing the J. L. Shields drug store at Jasper, which was broken into a short time ago at the same time the post office and other stores were entered.

A postcard was taken from Dalmain arranging a meeting with a man supposed to be a pal of his Sunday. The police were on the watch and the man failed to show up. It is supposed that he was informed of the arrest of Dalmain and kept out of the way.

Mr. Shields went to Carthage Saturday morning and identified as his property a watch and Ever-sharp pencil taken from the suspect when he was arrested.

As we go to press report comes from Carthage of another suspect in connection with the case.

FARMERS ELEVATOR MEETING

Large Attendance—Harmonious Meeting—By-Laws Changed.

The annual meeting of the Farmers Cooperative Elevator Company of Jasper was held Monday at Nunnally's Hall. The meeting was attended by a very large number of the stockholders and much interest was shown in the meeting.

Two directors were elected, as follows: C. S. Johnston and Wm. Patterson, in place of John Carter and Wm. Mevius, the two latter declining reelection.

The board of directors later organized with F. W. Wescott, president; J. A. Cochran, vice-president, and Andrew Gresham, secretary-treasurer.

The company has long felt the need of more working capital and the by-laws were amended at this meeting increasing the capital stock from $15,000 to $35,000.

The by-laws were also amended to allow shareholders to own more than four shares as heretofore. A member may own 20 shares of the stock, or $500 worth.

The elevator company, while in a sound financial condition, has suffered with other like organizations during the year by the fluctuation and unstable conditions of the grain market.

Public Sales.

Thursday, January 20, Miles Starrett, 2 miles south and 5 1/2 west of Jasper, will sell 10 horses and mules, 4 fat hogs, hay, oats, corn and a lot of machinery. A. W. Radford, auctioneer.

Tuesday, January 25, C. A. King, 4 miles south and 2 west of Jasper, will sell 9 horses and mules, 12 cattle, 10 sheep, a lot of pure-bred White Wyandotte hens, household goods and farm implements. A. W. Radford and C. F. Rex, auctioneers.

Monday, January 31, Malone & Hendricks will sell at the Dr. Hendricks farm 20 head of good coming 4-year-old mules. These mules are ready to go to work.

W. C. T. U. Notes.

The W. C. T. U. met with Mrs. Beulah Teeter last Friday afternoon. A good meeting was enjoyed by all present.

The next meeting will be held at the home of Mrs. Charlotte Magers Friday, January 21. All members are requested to be present to make plans for future work. Mrs. Hattie Wine, president.
